Committee Has Tux Optional At Junior Prom

Men may wear tuxedos, ROTC uniforms, or dark suits with a bow tie. Light suits will not be acceptable. The change in dress is an effort by President Wilkinson and the prom committee to make the dance available to everyone.

According to committee reports, the BYU administration has cleared unique and revolutionary plans. The president's office is striving to give students top level social as well as academic opportunities by giving full cooperation of its resources, the chairman stated.

Members of the committee working with Mr. Hunt are as follows: programs, Hal Jensen, Gridley, Calif. and Naida Black Tooele; refreshments, Sylvia Tyler, Los Angeles; decorations, Ken Perry, Provo; ticket sales, Boyd Bliton, Blackfoot, Ids.; parking, Bill Perry, Helper; business manager, Russ Mickelson, Duchesne; assembly, Wayne White, Stockton, Tex.; and publicity, Dick Smart, Portland.

The world-famous Jillmar String quartet will appear on the Brigham Young University-Community Concert Series Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Provo Tabernacle. A special performance for BYU students will be presented Friday morning in place of student assembly.

It was to transmit the art of chamber music playing to members of future quartets at the Juilliard School of Music in New York where the artists are resident faculty, and to foster the performance of fine music—both old and new—through public performances.

Robert Mann, Portland, Ore.; Robert Koff, Los Angeles; Rael Hillyer, Ithaca, New York and Arthur Winograd, New York City, are the quartet personnel. Each of the four has also distinguished himself as a solo performer.

Addition of the Mannes Gimpes Silva strig trio to the winter quarter lyceum series has caused the cancellation of two previously scheduled lyceum numbers.

Donald I. Rogers, writer and lecturer, and the New Art Quintet, originally slated for 10 p.m. performances will not appear.

Arrangements are being made to complete the series with other artists.

The cast of "Papa Is All" by Patterson Greene, to be presented Feb. 4-7 in the Smith auditorium was announced today.

This next major theatre production will star Lorna Erickson, Richmond, Wash. as Mama; St. Porter, Glasgow, Mont., as Jack; Patricia Mann, Arcadia, Calif. as Emma; Calvin Evans, Ogden, Utah, as Papa; Julia Groberg, Idaho Falls, as Mrs. Yoder; and Wallace Bruce, Salt Lake City, as the trooper Brendle.

Directed by Dr. Preston Giedhill, with Gayle Hall, Riverside, Calif., assistant director, "Papa Is All" will replace formerly scheduled "Great G. Brown."

SNOWLESS CARNIVAL—is envisioned by Ted Johnson as he searches for the little white cloud while Myrna McKenna and Audrey Baxter offer little help as they pour a glassful of cafeteria ice over him. Dearth of snow may change plans for annual carnival slated this weekend.

Carnival Committee Works Despite Weather Defiance

Regardless of spring or winter weather, the Snow Carnival will take place Thursday, Friday and Saturday, according to Ger. Turner, general chairman.

Even without snow, skiing events at Timp Haven, Snow Carnival assembly, coronation of the snow queen, and both the sport dance on Friday and the dressy Snowflake Fantasy ball on Saturday will take place. Ice skating and snow sculpturing contests, however, may have to be cancelled or altered.

Grads in Business, Social Sciences

Employment openings are now available to students with degrees in social science, or business administration. Keith Duffin, employment placement director, announced today.

Mr. Duffin also said there is an opening for a college of commerce graduate who is available now. He added that interested students may contact him at the employment placement bureau.

"Students graduating this school year should also register," said Mr. Duffin, "at the employment placement bureau." He said that separate notice will be given this month concerning interviews for chemistry graduates.

Snow Carnival committee members must meet in 245 J. S. at 5 p.m. today. All final plans will be set.

Lloyd, Braithwaite Attend Confabs In L. A., Montana

Two BYU personalities figured in the news last week as they attended out-of-state conferences. Dr. Wesley P. Lloyd, dean of students, attended a meeting of the board of directors of the Western Personnel Institute, and the annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges, held in Los Angeles.

In addition to his directorship, Dean Lloyd is a member of the academic council of that institute.

Conducting a conference on public relations, Dr. Royden Braithwaite, student coordinator, gave several speeches as well as serving as chairman. The conference was held on the campus of Montana State College at Bozeman, Mont.

Not So With Love...

Glassless, Glasses Reunited

By Kathy Kedd - UNIVERSE Feature Writer

There are some particularly bewildered-looking souls shuffling about the campus these days. You have no doubt encountered these people in head-on collisions or maybe you have escaped with only a side swipe.

Leading the list of causes of this dazed condition are love and misplaced glasses. Victims of the former might find relief in a car

According to Mr. Sensenbath, the reason for this type of set is that there are 15 scenes in the play—11 of which require different settings, including indoor, outdoor, city, country, and barnroom scenes. All sets have been built by cast members.

Dr. Harold I. Hansen, director, said the audience will play an important part in the production and may cheer the hero, weep for the heroine, and hiss the villain to their heart's content.

Cast members include Ralph Lundgren, Nancy Done, Krista Nelson, Fred Dixon, Sharon Berrett, Robert Scalf, Bob Struthers, Noel Quinn, Gerald Wilde, Claude Wrathall, Barbara West, and Janus Hamblin.

Chinese Bass, Piano Team
Exceed Audience Courtesy

by Linda Worsley — UNIVERSE Music Critic

First on last week's lycium double feature was Tuesday's concert by the Chinese bass, Yi Kwai See. Reports have it that Mr. See had a cold which may be the reason his high and loud tones seemed limited and strained. At any rate, his dramatic climaxes did not come off. On the other hand, most of his interpretations were very sensitive and fine. He has a very beautiful voice, without the earth-shaking vibrato that clouds so many low voices; and in the very rapid, delicate passages it had a surprising flexibility. He sang some very interesting numbers and, as mentioned, the one real flaw in his program was the total lack of power in his higher range.

(I think I would go hear just about anybody sing if Carl Fuerstner was accompanying. His Tuesday night effort, if at times over powering, had the usual Fuerstner lawlessness.)

Thursday, a new capacity crowd filled the tabernacle to hear the duo piano miracle of Vronsky and Babini. By the end of the long (four encores) program it was hard to imagine other than perfect sounds coming from the two pianos. The couple (actually Mr. and Mrs. Babini) seem to have hurdled the point where technique is even a prison. Perfect synchronization made their playing seem to stem from a single thought. At the same time, their range of interpretation seemed to be inexhaustible. They played with equal ease and finesse the delicate, lacy "Fantasia" of Schubert and the fiery, multi-colored "Christine Dances" of Beethoven. This last number, incidentally, is a tribute to Mr. Babini's ability as transcriber.

In addition to their incomparable musicianship, Vronsky and Babini are a handsome, charming and dignified pair, on stage and off. In short, it is hard to say how they could possibly be improved upon.

Not so our lycium audiences. I refer to the small fraction of peons who, scarcely before the performers have left the stage after the last number, stand up, put on their hats and begin to file out the door. It is almost as if they were embarrassed by the bowing or encores of the performer and the otherwise polite and appreciative audience.

Marilyn Sabin Gets
Nod as Best Girl
To Come Home To

Miss Marilyn Sabin, BYU coed from North Hollywood, California has been selected "The Girl We'd Most Like To Come Back To" by Company E of the 17th Infantry Division.

Company E is stationed on Triunfo Hill on the front lines in Korea. They selected Miss Sabin after seeing her picture in the UNIVERSE when she was named Delta Phi Dream Girl last quarter.

Cpl. Russell Biddinger, former Y student and spokesman for the company sent word of the selection. Upon being informed of her selection, Miss Sabin said: "Being selected 'The Girl We'd Most Like To Come Back To . . . ' is an honor, and a responsibility to the boys in Korea and only for me but for every girl in the world. No one in the company knew me personally, and I feel certain that they really selected the school I represent, an institution which stands not only for learning but for hope and purpose in life."

TOP AUTUMN PRIZE—for assemblies was won by Delta Phi. Olene Smith presents trophy to Quinn McKay and Bob West, directors. Capturing runners-up spots were the homecoming assembly, Brigadiers, Blue-Key-White Key.

Delta Phi Assembly Named
Best Show of Fall Quarter

Delta Phi won the trophy for the best assembly of the fall quarter. Its winner was the special Christmas program "Home for Christmas."

Olene Smith, student-body first vice-president, presented the award in Friday's assembly to Quinn McKay and Bob West, co-chairmen of the program. Honorable mentions were received by the Homecoming assembly, the Brigadiers, and the White Key Blue Key Thanksgiving program.

The winning of the trophy for the best assembly of the fall quarter places Delta Phi in the running for the annual award for the best assembly of the year. The winner last year was Virgil Camp's Choral Group, with the Viking social unit second, and the Kila Ora Club, returned missionaries and friends of New Zealand, third.

The trophy awarded for the best assembly of any one quarter remains the permanent property of Quinn McKay and Bob West, co-chairmen of the program. Honorable mentions were received by the Homecoming assembly, the Brigadiers, and the White Key Blue Key Thanksgiving program.

All awards are made by the assembly committee headed by Olene Smith, with Marilyn Manning, Yonda Christensen, Ruth Ellen Bean, Ann Rasmussen, Russell Mickelson, Ned Brown, Howard Ruff, Bob Maury, Keith Hayes, and Joe Hannig, members.

New Nibley Series
Due Soon in Era

Dr. Hugh Nibley, professor of history and religion, has written another series of articles for the Improvement Era.

Following his series on the "World of the Jaredites," and "Lehi in the Desert," previously published, Dr. Nibley continues his study of little known history. His subject of this series deals with the Book of Judith and the Book of Joseph, familiar to missionaries and others interested in Bible prophecies of the Book of Mormon. His study discusses the use of sticks in ancient times, their purpose, and what is meant by the mention of two sticks being joined together.

Dr. Nibley also discusses the reasons why modern Bible commentators are baffled by this scripture.

SPORTS SCOPE

by Ted Johnson

After last week's tour of some of the eastern campuses of the Skyline conference, the Cats have definitely given all other conference schools the impression that they are not to be taken lightly in their attempts at the loop crown. Denver came close to stopping the Cat drive but the Cats from the bank of Utah Lake seemed to find their sea legs when they faced a snarling pack of Lobos in Albuquerque. One more game remains before Y students in general will have the chance to see their pride-and-joy ball club in action. One more week remains in a disappointing schedule of early conference games. Disappointing only from the point of view that it will have been more than a month since their last appearance in the Y fieldhouse. The last home game was on Dec. 23 against St. Louis. Louis.

An addition to the playing squad of the team has been made since the majority of the students had a squint at the Y quint. He is Joe-Bob Cawser who has been holding down a good guard spot for the Y. Students will have the chance to see Cawser in action, realizing that he has already contributed a good deal towards the Cats' successes in past contests.

Ted Johnson

An interesting sidelight came to my attention while listening to the broadcasts of these games.

Whereas most college ball clubs are 'on their own' when they hit the road for a few games, Brigham Young's squad has its own cheering section in every gymnasium where they appear. Any game that the Cats play in this country and elsewhere will have a good number of Y supporters in attendance, giving support to the ball team and a good representation for the school. Members of the Church turn out en masse to watch the Cats play in every locale that they happen to visit and I am sure the ball team, the coaching staff and those who travel with the team appreciate the reception given them by former Y students or church members while they are away from home.

The emphasis placed on good spectator sportsmanship by yours truly in preceding columns seems to have been noticed by the student body (or am I flatter myself?).

At any rate, the last two games played in the Y fieldhouse were examples of the finest kind of sportsmanship that any college or university could display. Whatever the reason, the spirit of the occasions and the conduct of the cheering sections was very commendable.

In the San Francisco game and in the Washington State game, outstanding players and exceptional plays were loudly applauded by nearly everyone. When a visiting player left the game via the foul route, the crowd responded with a tribute to a fine player, a good athlete. Congratulations are in order. Let's keep it up.

A Sports Scope Bouquet...

Did someone ever walk up to you and tell you something that made you feel wonderful all over or do something in your behalf that made you feel that this isn't such a bad old world after all?

Sure they have, and you know the feeling that warms you up all over. Last quarter an incident occurred to me that had just such an effect.

A rather quiet, understanding professor, a member of the English department, took time out from his duties just prior to the week of finals to have a talk with this writer. This man had the time and the thoughtfulness that are too often forgotten by some of us and gave a helping hand without any requests.

The subjects discussed were related, on the whole, toward sports and his thoughtfulness gave rise to this added feature of the Sports Scope. Each time this column appears in the future, I will attempt to give recognition where recognition is due and send a verbal bouquet to the deserving person. Since I am not too well versed in the poetry of potted plants or picked posies I will give this deserving person a pick of floral decorations. However, I would include a bunch of mint leaves. They add an invigorating freshness; the same freshness that I got from him.

Let's not get too sentimental in this, but let's not be inappreciative of our associates and maybe we can give them a mild touch of heartburn. Thanks, Brother West.

Freshman Mat Winners Listed

Eight freshman wrestlers battled their way to first-year team championships at BYU recently according to Dave Geddes, tournament chairman.

Vikes Win 'Mural Football' Crown

Viking social unit overcame an early 18 point Crimson Pirates lead to capture the intramural flag football championship for the second straight year last Friday.

The Vikes bumped the Pirates 49-36 in a game which, although marked by frequent disputes, was a thriller all the way.

The Pirates jumped into what appeared to be a decisive lead early in the game as they piled up 18 points before the Vikes were able to push across a score. It wasn't until late in the second period that the Vikings were able to mount a scoring drive. They caught fire with this score, however, and pushed across an other with only 15 seconds remaining in the half.

The Vikings dominated second half play almost completely, as their offense began to click. Virtually the whole team figured in the scoring, as the Pirates' defense began to crumble. The Pirates pushed to within one touchdown of the Vikes late in the last period, but another Viking touch-down put the game on ice and the play ended with the Pirates in possession at mid-field.

Pioneers Scare Cougars But Drop Game 55-54

Brigham Young University's basketball team chalked up its second Skyline conference victory Thursday night at Denver where the Cougars pulled late in the game to elude out a narrow win over the Denver University Pioneers.

Trailing the Pioneers throughout the game with the exception of the first few seconds, the Cats had an extremely tough time hitting their shots while the home-standing DU quintet couldn't seem to miss through most of the first half.

Three counts of coldness were stacked against the Cougars in their first trip over the mountains this season. Several members of the team had been given treatment for an attack of the cold, the Denver arena is built immediately over the ice of a hockey court and the two combined to give the Cats one of the coldest nights on the court they have had this season.

Nick Mateljan carried off top scoring honors for both teams with a total of 22 centers. The big center played an outstanding game on the boards and on defense.

The fourth quarter was a touch and go affair throughout with the score being tied at 45 all with some six minutes remaining in the contest. Big Nick Mateljan shot that tied the game only to have Denver rebound and take a two point lead again. The lanky Californian center then sank an other goal and Joe Richey followed with another bucket to give the visitors their first lead in the quarter. At the three minute mark, the Cats still held their two point margin but a series of fouls and free shots soon stretched out the Cats' lead to 53-51.

The Denverites couldn't seem to find the hoop on their free tosses and the Cats hit 100 per cent. This was the deciding factor in the game although an untimely poor pass gave Coach Watt's crew a few moments of anxiety before the final horn sounded.

The final score was 55-54. The next meeting of the two teams will be on March 7 in Provo, which is the last game of the regular season for the Cats.

Utes, Utahs Hold Down Loop Cellar

Skyline basketball "powers" took a better grip on their favored position last week as Wyoming, Brigham Young and Colorado A&M carried their undefeated records unmarred.

On the other hand, Utah, Montana and Utah State settled further into the league cellar with defeats in several contests and close contests. Two overtime battles added spice to Saturday night's slate with Utah losing by three points to Denver's Pioneers and Utah State succumbing to the Aggies of Colorado A&M by two points in Fort Collins.

Of the six teams mentioned, a common characteristic is their records. Each team has either won or lost all their games in the Skyline league this season. The other two teams in the league, Denver and New Mexico, find themselves in the middle of the loop ladder. The Pioneers, holding a one win and two lost record, gave the Cats of BYU a tough go in their battle, while the New Mexicans dropped Utah by their lone conference win in four starts.

The Cougars of BYU will travel to Montana to meet the Grizzlies on their home court for their only contest of the week. This will bring to an end the Cougars' long away-from-home streak as they return to the Y campus for a game with Wyoming on the following Friday and a shot at Colorado A&M on the following Saturday.

Lobo Hoopsters Dropped By Cougar Crew 73-57

The Lobos of New Mexico University were no match for their visiting opponents in Albuquerque on Saturday night as the Brigham Young University Cougars added another win to their Skyline conference record by a 73-57 margin.

The Cats, expecting a tough game from the Lobos, had a tough time of it through the first thirty minutes of play as the New Mexicans put up a good scrap. Suffering from the lack of height and depth, the Lobo quint could not keep up with the torrid pace set by the Cats from Provo and fell behind in the latter part of the third period, never to come within threatening distance again.

Having been attacked by the cold during the first part of their swing over the mountains, the Lobos had experienced some difficulty in hitting the basket while in Denver and had narrowly won that game. Prior to the New Mexico game, speculation was running high among Cougar fans as to how bad the cold was hurting the Y squad and as to how much could be expected from the Lobos in their home lair. The N.M. crew had pointed off the University of Utah two nights previously and had put on an excellent showing. Previously, the Lobos had been considered some what of a doormat in the Skyline conference, but recent showings made by the Wolfpack from the south have given indications that the Lobos are to be reckoned with.

Big Nick Mateljan sparked the scoring attack of the Ysters as coach Stan Watts utilized his entire squad in the fray. Mateljan hit the hoop for 19 counters followed by Hal Christensen with 11 tallies. Sophomore guard Ruby Hoyal carried off high scoring honors for the evening as he bucketed 20 points for the losers.

The lads from New Mexico had a phenomenal 1,000 per cent at the foul line for the evening, hitting 21 out of 21 tries from the charity stripe. Coach Watt's crew hit for 10 out of 23 but the big difference in the final score was the great number of talented reserves that Coach Watts put into use.

The win gave the Cats a perfect record in Skyline play, having downed Utah State, Denver and New Mexico. The Lobos, however, have only broken the win column on one occasion, the Utes from Salt Lake being their victims.

Women's Program Emphasizes Basketball at Y

Basketball and table tennis were chosen by the Women's Intramural Council, at their meeting early last week, to head this quarter's intramural program.

Marvel Carlson and Connie Corbett were named to head the basketball tournament and Ella Rae Leleux, to manage the table tennis tourney.

A basketball practice session was held at the women's gym last night between 4:30 and 10:00 p.m. All girls interested in women's intramurals are urged to form teams and enter the tournament which will get underway next Monday.

Because of the large turnouts expected in the basketball bracket, insistence of running the social unit and independent tournaments separately, they will be run together in one large tournament. The affair will be double elimination.

Among other things discussed by the council was a sports play day to be held February 21 with the State and the University of Utah invited. Plans for a canyon country party are in the making and the program for the affair will be an overnight stay.

Wrestlers Lose 33-0 to 'Pokes

Cougar wrestlers met a tough Wyoming mat crew in the Y fieldhouse last weekend and were drubbed 33-0 in the affair.

Coach Reid Nilson's crew failed to win a match as the highly rated "Pokes" walked off with all three matches including three pins.

Loom Labors Help Many To Stay at Y

An increasing number of students are weaving their way through BYU.

Commercial hand looms are being used to produce a score of salable items which include dress materials, stoles, baby blankets, ties, table cloths and other articles.

W. Cleon Skousen, director of the BYU Alumni Association, sponsored the new program, intended to help students who need to work their way through school.

The program has caught on. Mr. Skousen declared, and a large supply of merchandise of excellent quality has been loomed. In addition to the immediate purpose of the project, students are learning a useful and practical trade, he said.

Bishop Jay S. Grant, president of the Grant Apparel Corp., of Los Angeles, provided the first six looms. His daughter, La Nel, an experienced and expert weaver, directs training and production here.

Miss Grant declares that almost anyone can learn the operation of the loom in a very short time, and with practice will soon gain the required speed to make weaving a profitable business. The training program she has set up at Brigham Young University can be completed in 40 hours.

Student manager of the project is Thenn M. Thorley, Cedar City, a senior student in business administration. He indicated that those in the program will be paid on a production basis for the actual work produced by them.

Looms are located in the dome of the Science building. A move to establish permanent quarters is anticipated, and it is expected that as many as 50 looms will be in eventual operation.

Although finished pieces will not be sold in competition with other commercial firms, the products loomed will be sold at approximately 50 per cent of market price, with all profits going to the weavers.

Many articles are available now for sale, according to Mr. Skousen. Information may be had from the Alumni office in the Maeser building.

Banyan is Prize for Best Letter Advertising Sale of Yearbook

The following letter was adjudged as the best entry in the recent Banyan business letter contest. The writer, J. Lowell Young, is a senior student majoring in chemistry. He is a writer, a returned missionary (New Zealand), is married and has a young son. For his efforts he will receive a free Banyan next May.

ATTENTION ALL Students:

This offer will never be made to you again. It is an unbelievable investment that no one student can afford to miss.

Many people have money in the bank drawing only 2½% interest yearly. Possibly a few have investments that net them about 10% interest yearly. But here is an offer that will repay you not just 10%, but 100%, or 200%, or more every year. Impossible? No. Sir!

Just close your eyes a few seconds and try to recall faces of your friends five years ago. Try to remember the great thrills of your high school days; the school grounds, the football games, the basketball games, the dances, the classrooms, or even the teachers. See how soon memories fade.

What would you give for that old high school year-book now? Money could not buy the memories it recalls. Still, its value is only beginning to mount.

Now you are in college living some of the most exciting and memorable days that will ever happen in your life. Five years from now, will you still recall clearly what our rapidly changing campus looks like? Will you easily remember the surging crowds going to and from assemblies, devotionals, concerts, dances, football and basketball games? Will you see clearly in your mind the spot where you and your mate first met: the walks you took, and the dreams you dreamed? Of course not. The years will have dulled your memory.

What a trivial sum, $5.50, to give for a treasure chest so precious. Don't miss this chance of a lifetime. Get your 1953 BANYAN, now! You will be glad all your days that you made such a priceless investment.

Sincerely,
J. Lowell Young

Y Awarded Money For More Study Of Spotted Fever

A continuation grant of $3000 has been awarded Brigham Young University to aid in continuing the study of Rocky Mountain spotted fever and plague.

The study is under the direction of Dr. D. Elden Beck of the BYU zoology department and has as its purpose, the gathering of information concerning potential carriers of the disease. Part of the study includes collecting of ecto-parasites from various species of mammals throughout the state.

The project has done much to reveal where plague-transmitting fleas and spotted fever-transmitting ticks are found in Utah and with which animals they are associated.
